Email received

I am the toxicologist investigating the death of Daniel Whitworth. The work on the pm samples is now complete and my findings include a high concentration of GHB.

The brown bottle in the deceased's pockets was redirected to our drugs department, along with the bottle of cola, as they are better place to analyse drug solutions which may contaminate our equipment here in tox. I believe from my colleagues in drugs that this analysis has not yet been started.

As the tox is complete on the pm samples do you still require analysis of the 2 bottles?

Thanks
